Communication Skills

Establishing parental communication is a vital part to effective coaching. Please give examples of some of the information that you would communicate with parents at the start of a season. If you have a copy of an information letter that you have used in the past, feel free to include it with the completed application.

Conflict Resolution

Addressing concerns from a parent is key to building confidence between the coach, player and parent. Do you have a process on how you would handle an issue with an upset parent? If possible, give an example of an incident that happened and how you resolved it.

Praying with your team

Because Mel Ott is part of the church athletic ministry, we highly encourage our teams to pray before and after games and practices.

On a scale of 1-10, how comfortable are you with praying with your team? (1-low; 10-high)

On a scale of 1-10, how comfortable are you with praying with the opposing team before and after games? (1-low; 10-high)

Risk Management

Immanuel has a risk management policy that requires background checks on all volunteers who interact with children. Do you support this policy? (yes/no)
